A Different Kind of Preacher Clarence Lee

A Different Kind of Preacher tells the story of Clarence Lee, a Negro male, who grew up in a small country town in Mississippi in the 1940s. Raised by his devoutly religious great-grandmother and later, by his now married mother, Clarence faces the challenges of poverty, education, racism, abandonment by his biological father and integration into his mother's already established family. His life proves the old adage, "It's not how many times you get knocked down, but how many times you get up." This inspiring story of perseverance teaches the value of believing in yourself and the power of the love and support of others.
