Born in Sin, Upended in Grace George Williamson

A memoir from BPFNA's Founding President, George Williamson. "Born in Sin documents a cascading progression of confrontations with assumed privilege... With this dawn's crack, light began to illumine awareness of a larger horizon of corruption: the specific threat of nuclear weapons and, more generally, the US's warmongering habits and imperial impulses; our inherited and reinforced patterns not just of sexual discrimination but outright misogyny; and then an increasingly conflictual, prophetic engagement with the forces of homophobia (especially within the church) and devoted pastoral presence within the LGBTQ community... The stories in this book of adventures in faith are vast: from shackling outside a Woolworth lunch counter, to the apartment of Soviet dissidents during the Cold War, to Bangkok hotel gatherings with insurgent leaders in South Asia, to Central American jungles, to Saddam's parade grounds and the Warsaw Cathedral during Solidarity's ascension. There is abundance here." -Ken Sehested
