Apps Unveiled October 2015 (7)

With the release of iPhone 6s and iPhone 6s Plus, Apple introduced 3D TOUCH – a whole new way to interact with your iPhone. This new touchscreen functionality allows you to access an app's Quick Action shortcuts right from the Home Screen before fully launching the app. With Quick Actions, 3D Touch provides shortcuts to the things you do most, so you can send a message or take a selfie with just a simple press from the Home screen.

In addition, 3D Touch functionality also gives you new ways to interact once you're in an app with actions known as Peek and Pop, which lets you preview all kinds of content and act on it – without having to actually open it. For example, with a light press, you can Peek at each email in the inbox, and when you want to open one, press a little deeper to Pop into it.

That's not all! If you are also curious to know what's new in iOS 9, head to page 11 and learn more about Smarter Siri, Spotlight Search, multitasking features for the iPad, and new built-in apps by Apple. Then check out the best apps for experiencing everything iOS 9 and the brand new iPhone 6s have to offer from page 17.

In this issue, we have also reviewed top ten grocery shopping apps, which let you shop for your daily needs from groceries to vegetables, from personal care to household products, and from branded food items to dairy and bakery products from the comfort of your sofa. You must check out these apps, if you really don't want to spend your weekend in buying groceries.
