The provisions of ASCE 7-10, Minimum Design Loads for Buildings and Other Structures, have changed significantly from the 2005 edition, with the most widespread changes found in the wind and seismic provisions. These changes will have a major impact on structural engineering practice. This web seminar will address the following topics, among others: 1. Changes to wind speed maps and corresponding changes in wind load factors 2. Major reorganization of wind provisions 3. New simplified method of wind design 4. A completely new set of seismic maps and their impact on seismic design 5. Changes to the R-values table 6. Revised triggers for requiring dynamic analysis in seismic design 7. Changes to snow load provisions 8. Changes to ASD and SD load combinations 9. New Performance-based design procedures 10. New and revised structural integrity requirements
